Jefferson Community Directory: A Resource Guide for Connections

We are pleased to present the 3rd Edition of the Jefferson Community Directory as a resource guide for the South Hills and lower Mon Valley community. This tool can increase the quality of life for Jefferson residents and families by strengthening the connections among community practitioners and organizations with expertise and commitments to provide assistance. Earlier editions of the Directory have been well-received and we are grateful to users who have offered the changes reflected in this version.

We all need the support of our community at various times and this Directory is being distributed to the key connectors in the area served by Jefferson Hospital – community-based organizations, churches, libraries, physician practices, hospital case managers, food pantries, the local offices of elected officials and more. We recognize that health and quality of life are intertwined, and so the listings cover a wide variety of human needs, including behavioral health, child/youth programs, civic-neighborhood resources, healthcare, human services, immigrant and refugee services, senior services, transportation, and workforce development.

This Directory was created through an important partnership between the Jefferson Community Collaborative, Jefferson Regional Foundation and Jefferson Hospital. The intention was to list contacts at services and programs which are located in the Jefferson area to facilitate direct connections—not to replicate other regional guides. The Directory includes a listing of local organizations, an area map, detailed program information by category, a notes section on each page for users, and additional resource lists of local schools and local legislative offices.

Special thanks to the 79-member organizations of the Jefferson Community Collaborative (see next page) and its Directory Advisory Committee, Jefferson Hospital President and CEO Louise Urban, and the Board of Directors of the Jefferson Regional Foundation. The Collaborative members offered significant and essential ideas about this guide and are committed to its use. We are thankful for the early guidance of the Mon Valley Providers Council and PA 2-1-1 Southwest. We offer strong appreciation to the project leaders: Kelleigh Boland and Colleen Cadman of the Jefferson Regional Foundation, Janet O'Brien and Bethany Liput of Jefferson Hospital's Community Outreach Department, Kerry Glova, Jefferson Regional Foundation intern, and to Dorsey Design.

We hope the Jefferson Community Directory helps you make connections which will better serve the residents of our Jefferson area.

The Communities We Serve

Jefferson Community Directory Partners

Jefferson Regional Foundation is dedicated to an exciting mission—to improve the health and well-being of the community served by Jefferson Hospital through grantmaking, education and outreach. In March 2013, the agreement which guided the affiliation of Jefferson Hospital with the Allegheny Health Network provided $75 million for this new mission. To date, over $7 million in grants have been provided to community groups for projects and programs in the South Hills and lower Mon Valley area for the following priorities: increasing health access and prevention, improving child and family outcomes, and strengthening vulnerable populations and communities. The Foundation's focus on improving health for all means a commitment to addressing the “social determinants” of health, an understanding that “place matters”, and building the capacity of key community resources. The Foundation recognizes its role in convening and sharing information through its annual community learning event called the Jefferson Forum, supporting the work of its partners through the Jefferson Community Collaborative and other convenings, and in its support of this Jefferson Community Directory. For additional information, visit our website at www.jeffersonrf.org or call 412-267-6770.

Jefferson Hospital, a part of Allegheny Health Network (AHN), is a full-service inpatient facility located in Jefferson Hills that serves the South Hills of Pittsburgh, the lower Mon Valley, and surrounding communities. Featuring a medical staff of nearly 400 physicians covering more than 40 health care specialties, the hospital provides comprehensive inpatient and outpatient medical and surgical services as well as emergency care. It features a Cardiovascular Institute, Cancer Institute, Orthopaedic Institute, Bariatric & Metabolic Institute, Women and Infants Center, Women's Diagnostic Center, Sleep Disorders Center, and Wound Care Center among other services. Jefferson Hospital also includes the Bethel Park Health + Wellness Pavilion as well as several outpatient, primary care, and therapy sites across the South Hills and neighboring areas. Visit www.ahn.org/locations/jefferson-hospital for more information.

The Jefferson Community Collaborative was convened in the fall of 2015, building on the energy and enthusiasm generated in June of that year by the first Jefferson Forum. The Collaborative is built on the collective strengths of 79 member organizations (listed on the next page) whose vision is to create agile, healthy and sustainable communities for diverse populations throughout the Jefferson region while: serving as an incubator for powerful ideas and promising practices, improving the capacity of community-serving organizations, and facilitating group action on community aspirations. The Collaborative meets five times annually and is hosted by the Jefferson Regional Foundation. Smaller groups of collaborative members meet year-round in action teams to develop grassroots solutions to community challenges. For more information, visit the Collaborative page at www.jeffersonrf.org or call 412-467-6770.

How to Use The Jefferson Community Directory

The Jefferson Community Directory is designed as a tool to facilitate direct connections between community residents and local resources which meet their specific need. It is intended to serve as a one-click connection—listing the names and contact information of individuals who can provide access or detailed information about their specific programs and services.

- When individuals or families are in need, they often turn to trusted assets in the community—whether that is a case manager, a pastor, physician’s office, legislative office, a local library or many others. This Directory is intended to be used by these various key organizations, and will be distributed more widely to those groups over the coming months.
- The Jefferson Community Collaborative members indicated a preference for a printed Directory which could be carried to resident’s homes, used in offices and community settings, was wire-bound, grouped by categories and looked professional. All of the partners assisted in the identification of key categories and in helping to identify community resources to be included.
- The Jefferson Directory is not designed as a replication of other community guides. Programs and services which were selected for inclusion have a site or an established base of services in the South Hills or lower Mon Valley area.
- Members of the Jefferson Community Collaborative assisted in outlining key service categories and in identifying community resources to be included. An Advisory Committee provided additional guidance in the design content. We are grateful for their involvement.
- The Jefferson Community Collaborative asked that the design of the Jefferson Directory be local, personal, and user-friendly with the following features:
  - A quick listing of all of the organizations included in the Directory with key information.
  - A detailed program information section divided into service categories. Each service category is marked by its own icon and color to facilitate ease of use. Programs are listed alphabetically within each service category and include the name of a program contact and contact information to ensure a personal connection is made for Jefferson residents.

How to Use The Jefferson Community Directory

- Information about language access is included only if the program has bi-lingual staff or offers materials in other languages. All programs are encouraged to provide language access services (i.e. see the listing for Center for Hearing and Deaf Services PLAN program which offers language interpretation and other services).
  - A notes section is included below each program so the user can record updates or additional details.
  - A listing of the schools serving the Jefferson area is included.
  - A general resources page serves as supplemental information or when local resources are not available.
- While the Directory highlights the many strong services in the Jefferson area, it also will serve as a tool to identify resources which are lacking or underdeveloped in our area. The Jefferson Community Collaborative, Jefferson Hospital, and the Jefferson Regional Foundation are committed to building on the strengths of the local community.
- The Jefferson Directory was designed with the best of intentions and an attempt was made to verify all the information provided – but it certainly may include some errors. Please understand these were not intentional.
- Demand and usage will dictate update of this information. The Jefferson Regional Foundation will continue to work with its partners to update both the searchable PDF document (available at www.jeffersonrf.org) and the printed version of the Jefferson Community Directory. Please share your feedback with the Jefferson Regional Foundation at (www.jeffersonrf.org) or 412-267-6770.

Family Support Centers

Family Support Centers are community-based centers designed to provide programs and connect families with resources they need. The centers share a goal of “nurturing children, strengthening families, building communities,” and they carry out this mission through a variety of programs related to child development, positive parenting, and more. Services vary between locations but can include: home visits, parent and child activities, developmental assessments, housing information and support, referrals to community and human services, transportation, book clubs, and nutrition and wellness programs. Contact your local Family Support Center to find out what programs and resources are currently available.
